To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to highly recommend Goktug Yaman, who worked under my supervision at STIGA as an intern and quickly demonstrated remarkable skills and dedication that I believe make him an excellent candidate for any position he is applying for.

Goktug joined our team as an intern, and within a very short period, he not only adapted to our work environment but also exceeded expectations. His intelligence, curiosity, and eagerness to learn allowed him to grow into an almost fully independent role in a remarkable time—less than one year. He became proficient in managing SAP BI, handling Hana Calculation Views, SQL, and Python, and was responsible for developing sophisticated dashboards and connecting to new data sources. The speed at which he learned and delivered on complex projects was impressive.

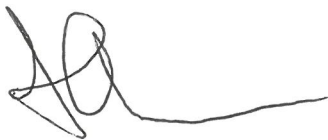

One of his greatest strengths is his determination. No matter how challenging the task or project, Goktug consistently demonstrated resilience and resourcefulness. He never gave up and always found a solution, often going beyond what was required to ensure the best possible outcome. His ability to problem-solve and adapt in a fast-paced environment was a great asset to our team.

It was truly a pleasure to work with him, and I was genuinely sad when he left for personal reasons. His contributions during his time with us were invaluable, and I have no doubt he will continue to excel in his future endeavours. I wholeheartedly recommend him without reservation for any position or opportunity he pursues.

I had the opportunity to work for a year and a half with Goktug at Stiga.

Goktug joined as an intern and immediately demonstrated his ability to dive into SAP BI (BW, SAP Analytics, Business Objects), tools he had never encountered before, with remarkable ease. Within a few months, he was handling his first projects autonomously.

He also contributed to improving BI by bringing new ideas and integrating data from various sources using Python, all while self-learning online without any external help.

In just a year and a half, he reached a level of seniority comparable to that of a senior consultant.

Among his strengths, without question, are his curiosity and constant drive to push beyond limits.

Without a doubt, he is the greatest talent I have encountered in my professional career.
